Matthew Chinman, PhD, is a senior behavioral scientist at the RAND Corporation, where his recent focus has been on developing strategies to enhance the prevention capacity of community-based prevention practitioners. He codeveloped the Getting To Outcomes (GTO) model and led the development and testing of several GTO-based guides that are aimed at assisting local communities in planning, implementing, and evaluating prevention programs in the areas of substance abuse prevention, underage drinking prevention, and youth development. Chinman is also a health science specialist at the VISN 4 Mental Illness, Research, Education and Clinical Center (MIRECC) at the Pittsburgh VA Medical Center, where his overall focus is on developing and testing various interventions to improve the recovery of individuals with serious mental illnesses.

Officer Jermaine Galloway should not be missed. When it comes to alcohol and substance misuse and abuse it can be hard to keep up with the trends. After his presentation you will know the new and increasing trends in marijuana and alcohol and the related challenges and will have more tools to be part of the solution!

Officer Galloway is a national speaker on issues related to law enforcement, prevention and education. He recently won the 2015 Fraud Prevention and Detection – Law Enforcement Individual Award from the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators and the 2010 National Mickey Sadoff Award by MADD for efforts in underage drinking prevention as well as the 2009 Law Enforcement Officer of the Year award. He will also be speaking to VT Law Enforcement at a statewide training on Marijuana Awareness the following day.
